COVID 19

Dear All,

We would like to advise you during this ever changing and challenging period that we find ourselves in, we at Newfoil are working tirelessly to minimise any impact this may have on business and to our customer base.

Whilst closely monitoring our stock levels, we have taken measures to ensure continuity of supply by placing additional orders for any increase in demand with our numerous suppliers and are requesting information and updates on a regular basis.

We have implemented internal procedures to ensure the safety and to minimise the possibility of infection to all personnel.

Should you require any further information or wish to discuss any requirements you currently have in greater detail, please do not hesitate to contact either myself or a member of our sales office.

We look forward to fulfilling any requirements you may have.
